This Youth Musical is being presented throughout the State of Hawaii through a joint venture of the Honpa Hongwanji Mission of Hawaii, on the occasion of our 125th Anniversary, and Ohana Arts.

"Peace On Your Wings" is a fictional story inspired by the life of Sadako Sasaki. Set in post-war 1950's Japan, it explores the lives of students at a middle school in Hiroshima as they face the terminal illness of their friend amidst their own adolescent drama. The musical score combines modern pop and Japanese influences to create a unique, uplifting, and inspiring show. 2014 SUMMER SESSION WITH REV. HARADA

Theme for this year's Summer Session was: Resolving Life's Problems through Buddhism. Rev. Marvin Harada subdivided the theme into four nightly topics:

- Resolving the matter of life and death
- Resolving relationship issues
- Resolving the three poisons: greed, anger and ignorance
- Resolving self-esteem issues

On the final night he wrapped up by presenting the life of Hisako Nakamura, the ultimate example of resolving life's problems through Buddhism. Although we were not able to work out the problems involved with streaming the lectures through Internet before the start of this year's session, we were able to address most of them, at its conclusion. So we plan to make the lectures widely available via Livestream next year. A total of 90 people registered either as full-time or part-time participants with an average of about 65 people attending per night. Despite the technical challenges and limited notification, participation via Livestream was 33 followers (registered for access) and there was an average of 11 viewers per night.

2014-2015 SOCIAL CONCERNS FUND DRIVE

In November we celebrate Thanksgiving and Eitaikyo. Both observances remind us to be mindful of the countless blessings in our lives and how we live connected to the world around us. It is in this spirit of gratitude that we begin our Annual Social Concerns Fund Drive.

The generous contributions from Sangha members provides the Honpa Hongwanji Mission of Hawaii the ability to support worthy organizations and programs with funding to continue their work in our community and to provide compassionate action during times of disaster. Your contributions also allow the Committee on Social Concerns to plan for future programs related to social issues affecting our community.

Because of your commitment to promoting the Buddhist values of compassion and loving-kindness we were able to continue lending our support to such organizations as Project Dana, The Interfaith Alliance Hawaii, Family Promise of Hawaii and the various food banks across the state. Your generosity allowed Hawaii Kyodan to lead the fundraising effort to build the Sadako Sasaki Peace Crane exhibit at Pearl Harbor that was dedicated in 2013.

Because of your kokua over the years, we have also been able to help with recovery efforts after natural disasters and assist members of our Sangha affected by misfortune and other emergency situations. This year we were able to support relief efforts on the Big Island after Hurricane Iselle. We have also been able to establish the Golden Chain Grant program that promotes compassionate action through service to others in our community. Your generosity directly helps those in need and promotes a more humane world. Your continued support is greatly appreciated. Please make all checks payable to your local temple. The suggested donation is the cost of just one meal per person. Any donation you are able to give will make a difference in the lives of others. Your help is needed to continue our mission of sharing the Dharma through compassionate action. Mahalo!

SHARING PEACE THROUGH THE ARTS

In a recent ceremony at the Honpa Hongwanji Mission of Hawaii, Myrna Nishihara, president of the Honolulu United Buddhist Women's Association, presented checks to Vince Hazen, Director of the Honolulu Museum of Art School and to Cari Lee, a co-founder of Ohana Arts.

The Honolulu United Buddhist Women's Association's annual education workshop featured experiential art workshops with the theme, "Sharing Peace through the Arts." Members also donated over $600 to support those two organizations which work with youth in our community to promote peace through art.

The Honolulu Museum of Art's "Art to Go" program offers art experiences to students in schools throughout Oahu. The program develops creativity, self-reflection, and cultural understanding.

Ohana Arts engages youth in musical and performing arts programs which promote the mission, "promoting peace and world friendship through the universal language of the arts." Composer Jenny Taira and lyricist Laurie Rubin, Ohana Arts co-founders, are currently working on an original musical, "Peace on Your Wings." This performance, inspired by the life of Sadako Sasaki, a victim of the after-effects of the atomic bombing of Hiroshima, will premiere in November at Leeward Community College Theater and will tour statewide in January and February.

FAMILY PROMISE OF HAWAII: PRACTICING DANA (SELFLESS GIVING)

In August 2011, members of the Honolulu Hongwanji Council (composed of members from Hawaii Betsuin, Kailua Hongwanji, Jikoen Hongwanji and Moiliili Hongwanji) decided to engage in the efforts of Family Promise of Hawaii as another expression of "Dana". Family Promise's mission and what it does are consistent with the Dharma (teachings) and our commitment to contribute to a better community.

FAMILY PROMISE OF HAWAII – "Our mission is to mobilize existing community resources to aid families with children experiencing homelessness and help them transition to sustainable independence." "We do this by developing, training, and supporting a network of interfaith congregations whom host families quarterly. Each host site provides a safe place to sleep, good food, and generous hospitality. Guests stay at a host site for a week, then move on to the next host site."

Family Promise of Hawaii has developed a network of 56 host and supporting faith organizations that assist guest families. Once a quarter, Honolulu Hongwanji Council members engage with Family Promise guests for one week (Sunday to Sunday). With each engagement, the efforts of about 60 volunteers are coordinated among the four temples. Hawaii Betsuin, Jikoen and Moiliili provide safe havens for families to sleep. Volunteers from these temples, Kailua Hongwanji Sangha and Oahu Jewish Ohana prepare and serve breakfast, dinner and provide nightly sleep-over (toban) volunteer(s) during our guests' stay. In addition, volunteers usually furnish books, games, and activities for the guest children.

Family Promise volunteers engage with guest family members in a face-to-face manner. They have an opportunity to directly assist families in need of housing for a brief moment. They provide personal committed effort (energy and time) to families going through a period of transition. They choose to directly demonstrate compassion and loving-kindness. They do more than simply make monetary donations to help people in need. Volunteers are grateful for the opportunity to help and guest families wholeheartedly express their sincere gratitude for the help received. And we celebrate when guest families find homes and leave the program.

Each temple's Sangha develops and maintains a Family Promise volunteer group and furnishes monetary and in-kind resources. At Hawaii Betsuin, Board members, Buddhist Women Association (BWA) members, Dharma School parents and students, Boy and Girl Scouts and Hongwanji Mission School parents and students prepare and serve meals. By participating in Family Promise, volunteers experience service to our community with our hands, minds, and hearts.

Our engagement with Family Promise has given us the opportunity to practice Dana, to become truly aware of the interdependent nature of life, and to be directly engaged in our community. In a small, but significant way, we demonstrate the living teachings of Jodo Shin Buddhism.
